ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

GRADUATE DIPLOMA IN CHRISTIAN STUDIES

Build a firm framework of understanding in Christian Scripture, theology, history, and practice. Return to daily life reinvigorated, with a deeper sense of your calling.

THE GRADUATE DIPLOMA IN CHRISTIAN STUDIES IS ...

Flexible: Study at your own pace and control your own curriculum, choosing 50% of your courses. Take as long as you need to finish.

Relevant: Invest in a program designed to show you how Christ is integral to every square inch of life—whether you're at church, the office, the cottage, or the workshop.

Transferable: If you decide to pursue further study, all of your credits can be transferred to Regent's MA in Theological Studies or MDiv programs.

STUDENTS WHO TAKE THIS PROGRAM TYPICALLY ...

- are taking a sabbatical to reflect on their vocation or ministry;
- want to deepen their understanding of faith, but don't need a master's degree for their vocation; or
- want to test the waters of theological study before committing to a full master's degree.

Seventy-five per cent of GradDipCS students go on to complete a master's degree at Regent. The other 25% typically leave with fresh energy to return to their existing vocations or pursue new vocational directions.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

If you are less than 28 years old, you must have a bachelor's degree to apply to this program. If you are 28 or older, you may apply to the program if you can show that your life experience (including work and education) is equivalent to a university degree.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

CREDIT HOURS	COMPLETION TIME	PROGRAM COSTS	DISTANCE EDUCATION
24	Full course load: 8 months Part-time: Unlimited A full course load is equivalent to 12 credits per term.	The tuition for the 2023–2024 academic year is $520 per onsite credit hour and $540 per online credit hour. The total onsite tuition for the GradDipCS program is $12,480 (24 credit hours at $520 per credit hour). For a breakdown of associated fees and costs of living, view our sample budget. To help you offset the costs of graduate education, we offer scholarships, financial aid, and work opportunities on campus.	When completing the GradDipCS degree, you can take up to 12 credits of courses through Online Courses .

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The GradDipCS course is built so you can delve deeply into the Christian story and see why it matters for all of life. A series of required courses lay the foundation for solid, reliable theological thought, while electives give you the freedom to focus on your most burning questions.

In order to graduate from the program, you must successfully complete 24 credit hours with a GPA of 2.7 (B-) or higher. Of those 24 credits, 12 are free electives. The remaining 12 must be chosen from the Foundational Core courses listed below.

Foundational Core Courses

In order to receive a GradDipCS, all students are required to take the following courses:

COURSES	CREDIT HOURS
Old Testament Foundations (BIBL 501)	3
New Testament Foundations (BIBL 502)	3
One of the following:	3
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Theology Overview (THEO 500) Theology I (THEO 601) Theology II (THEO 602) History of Christian Doctrine (THEO 608)
Interdisciplinary Studies Elective	3

Additional Requirements

One of the highlights of the GradDipCS program is that it includes 12 credits of free electives, giving you the freedom decide how you want to spend your time at Regent. You can focus on a single critical question, or study more broadly: it's up to you.

Notes on the Requirements

Choosing your courses:

Old Testament Foundations (BIBL 501), New Testament Foundations (BIBL 502), and Christian Thought & Culture I (INDS 501) and II (INDS 502) are all part of the foundational core for the Master of Arts in Theological Studies and the Master of Divinity \(MDiv\) programs. If you think you might use the GradDipCS to go on to a master's program at Regent, you should take both Christian Thought and Culture I & II (one as your INDS elective), since both of these courses are required for the MA Theo Studies and MDiv programs. We also recommend that you choose your electives carefully in light of the requirements of the master's program you are considering.

More details are available on our Program Requirements and Policies page.

MA AND MDIV CONCENTRATIONS

One of the unique features of studying at Regent is the opportunity to focus your studies in a particular area of concentration.

Our Christianity and the Arts concentration, for example, gives you the opportunity to produce a professional piece of artwork—whether visual art, a film, a performance, a dance, or a work in another medium. The Marketplace Theology concentration allows you to focus on applying your faith within particular professions.

The Master of Arts in Theological Studies program offers several tracks for completion: you can choose to focus on one of 12 different concentrations (see below). Most Master of Divinity students use their electives to sample from the wide variety of courses that Regent offers; however, if desired, you may complete a concentration in the MDiv program too. The Chaplaincy concentration is exclusive to the MDiv. Concentrations are not part of the Graduate Diploma in Christian Studies, the Master of Arts in Christian Studies, the Master of Theology, or the Master of Arts in Leadership, Theology, and Society program.

Browse our concentrations and find one that interests you.

SCRIPTURE

Biblical Languages

The Biblical Languages concentration focuses on both Old Testament Hebrew and New Testament Greek, and attempts to give you a solid base of knowledge and competence in these areas. It is particularly suitable for those who intend to pursue doctoral studies in the Bible, or who desire to teach biblical languages. In this concentration, two years of both languages are required, and language study at the advanced level or within the context of advanced exegetical courses is recommended. Although a firm grasp of both Hebrew and Greek is required, you will choose one language to be your major focus and the other language to be your minor focus. You will take an Advanced Reading course in your major language (which will substitute for a seminar in this concentration) and will have additional readings in your major language in preparation for the comprehensive exam.

Doctrinal Theology

Theology is the discipline in which we integrate various resources of God's revelation and human inquiry into as clear an understanding as we can reach of God and his world. Theology is thus the web by which we connect all our thinking as Christians, even as it serves the larger and higher purpose of loving God and serving the world he loves. The Theology concentration gives you the opportunity to explore both broadly and in depth the doctrines of the Christian faith.

Spiritual Theology

In the Spiritual Theology concentration, you explore the relationship of your life in the world with your real life in God. In contrast to the humanistic search for personal transcendence that passes for “spirituality” today, Christian spirituality is theological: it is founded on and inspired by the triune God revealed in Scripture and in Christ; it cultivates responsiveness to the seeking Father; it fully engages the mind, heart, and body; it is, as William Perkins once said, “the science of living blessedly forever.” But it is not only a personal quest; spiritual theology involves active engagement with the world and the needs of others through mission, work, ministry, and prayer.

Marketplace Theology

Regent College is an international centre for vocational integration and spiritual formation. In the Marketplace Theology concentration, students focus on expressing the Christian faith within the context of the public square of ideas, values, and institutions. The field education component can be done in a local workplace or church setting. Regular faculty resources are complemented by Faculty Associates—friends of the College currently serving in various societal careers who assist faculty and students in working on integrational issues. This concentration includes an eight-month field education experience, normally beginning in September and ending in April.

The mission of Regent College involves the recognition that God calls his people to claim the whole of human life for Jesus Christ. The Interdisciplinary Studies concentration fosters this by learning to think Christianly in the context of exploring topics that normally lie outside the theological curriculum. In Interdisciplinary Studies courses, you are challenged to reflect, from a Christian perspective, on topics such as philosophy, politics, economics, psychology, art, literature, and more. You have the opportunity to explore a wide range of such topics in your concentration, or to delve deeper in one area.

Christianity and the Arts

Regent College recognizes the importance of the arts as an expression of human creativity. The Christianity and the Arts concentration offers you the opportunity to integrate various forms of art with the Christian faith. Building on a foundational course in aesthetics (The Christian Imagination [INDS 560]), you can choose from a diverse selection of courses in literature, poetry, music, graphic arts, and dance. The course mixture is further enriched by Regent's own Lookout Gallery, by performance space both in Regent's main auditorium and atrium, and by the presence of many Christian artists in Vancouver who are associated with Regent College (e.g., Pacific Theatre). Regent can also assist you in seeking a mentored relationship with a local artist, playwright, or musician.

World Christianity

This concentration focuses on the emerging field of World Christianity, which seeks to understand Christian thought and practice around the globe through integrated studies in history, theology and mission.

Students will gain deeper understanding of the changing face of global Christianity and its implications for the ongoing development of Christian tradition worldwide. They will cultivate familiarity with selected regional studies of Christianity, particularly those in the Majority World where the gospel is expanding most rapidly (e.g., Africa, Asia, and Latin America) as well as those among marginalized peoples of North America (e.g., First Nations and Native Americans, African Americans, Hispanics and other immigrant populations). They will also develop further competence in key issues such as gospel and culture, indigenous expressions of Christianity, globalization, inter-faith relations, renewal movements, and current trends in global theology and mission.

Through concentrated studies in this field, students will become equipped as scholars and practitioners of the Christian faith in its local and global expressions. The program is applicable for those who anticipate teaching, further research, or leadership in various capacities within the broad sphere of world mission.

At Regent, we recognize the importance of assimilating Scripture, theology, and languages into the Christian lifestyle. The Applied Theology concentration and Pastoral Ministry concentration are concerned with the personal application of faith as lived experience. Under the guidance of faculty members who have spent significant portions of their lives immersed in the practice of ministry, these concentrations provide opportunity for the integration of theory and practice relevant to Christian service in the church, parachurch, mission, or society at large. The concentrations include an eight-month field education experience, normally beginning in September and ending in April.

Chaplaincy (only for MDiv)

Go places and make a meaningful difference with a career in spiritual care. Offered in partnership with local health authorities, a concentration in Chaplaincy will support and prepare you for a meaningful life as a spiritual care practitioner.

The Chaplaincy concentration integrates Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) training with our Masters in Divinity program, and helps students start the journey towards a professional spiritual care career in a variety of fields: healthcare, corrections, military, education, shelters, marketplace, and more.

MA IN THEOLOGICAL STUDIES

There is no Chaplaincy concentration in the MA in Theological Studies. Students in this program can transfer up to two units of Clinical Pastoral Education into their program within standard transfer credit and program requirement allowances.

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) is offered by the Canadian Association for Spiritual Care through governmental health authorities. Applications for CPE training are independent from Regent College, and students are responsible for their own admission into these training units. CPE unit leaders will expect students to have some training in biblical studies, theology, and pastoral care before applying for a CPE unit. We strongly recommend students to complete 18 credit hours, which includes OT Foundations, NT Foundations, Theology I and/or II, and Soul of Ministry, before applying to a CPE unit.

Additionally, admission to the MALTS program requires five years of full-time work experience (or equivalent) in which you have had leadership responsibilities or which points toward potential leadership responsibilities in the future. The program is designed so that you will fulfil various assignments within the context of your current employment (whether paid or as a volunteer).

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

The MA in Leadership, Theology & Society is a 24-month, cohort-based program designed to enable participants to remain in their current workplace while developing their leadership abilities. The program's 36 credit hours include:

- Eight on-campus courses, delivered through four intensive two-week residences at Regent College in Vancouver, BC;
- A 24-month Workplace Integration, in which students will be mentored and will have an opportunity to reflect on and develop their own leadership abilities;
- A Capstone Project, in which students will apply their learning from the program to a situation in their own workplace and reflect theologically on that experience; and
- A week-long Capstone Retreat, where students will gather to share their Capstone Projects and celebrate the conclusion of the program.

The tuition for the MALTS program comes to $25,000. The cost of the Capstone Retreat varies from year to year, usually falling within the range of $2,000 to $3,000. It includes accommodation and meals while at the retreat and a shuttle service from a designated hotel to the lodge (round trip). PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

All students are required to take all eight MALTS courses together with their assigned cohort. These courses comprise an interdisciplinary approach, examining leadership through the lenses of biblical, historical, and applied theology.

Additionally, all students will take part in a two-year Workplace Integration and will be paired with a mentor with whom they will discuss the ongoing integration and application of their MALTS coursework within the context of their own workplace.

Finally, in order to graduate with a MALTS degree, students must complete a final Capstone Project. This project leads students to blend theological reflection with creative expression as they develop solutions for their particular workplace (e.g., teaching curriculum, business plan, policy paper, healthcare protocol, etc.).

The cohort-based design of the MALTS program provides important opportunities for students and faculty to build relationships within the context of courses, retreats, meals, and online conversations. All students are accordingly required to participate fully in every aspect of the program.

FAQ

PROGRAM DETAILS

WHO IS THIS PROGRAM FOR?

The MALTS program is geared toward currently employed working professionals who are in a position of leadership or actively advancing toward a position of leadership. If you are not currently employed but you feel that the MALTS program is the right next step for you, please contact us and we will be happy to discuss your situation.

WHAT TYPE OF WORK EXPERIENCE DO I NEED TO DO THIS PROGRAM?

The MALTS program is intended for people from a wide range of work experience. You need at least five years of full-time work experience (or equivalent) either in a leadership position or actively and evidently working toward a leadership position. Additionally, you are expected to be currently employed or to have access to a workplace where you will be able to fulfill the requirements for the Workplace Integration and for the creation of a Capstone Project.

IS THIS A FULL-TIME OR PART-TIME PROGRAM?

The MALTS program is a low-residency program, requiring your on-campus presence for only four weeks of the year. However, you will be expected to engage with ongoing coursework not only while on campus but throughout the program.

Note: If you pay Canadian income tax and require a T2202A form, you will be considered full time in both summer terms, and both winter terms, but not in the fall terms.

HOW LONG IS THIS PROGRAM? WHEN DOES THE PROGRAM START?

The program takes 24 months across three calendar years, starting in May and ending in June. Individual residencies take place in May of the first calendar year, January and July of the second calendar year, and January and June of the third calendar year. A new cohort will start in May of every year.

ARE THERE ANY ELECTIVES IN THE MALTS PROGRAM?

There are no electives in the MALTS program. The program consists of eight specific courses, Workplace Integration, and a Capstone Project. If you have already completed Old Testament Foundations and/or New Testament Foundations, see further explanation under Admission Details.

CAN I TAKE MALTS COURSES BY DISTANCE?

With the exception of Workplace Integration and the Capstone Project, all MALTS courses are taught during two-week residencies, with course work before and after each residency. Workplace Integration and the Capstone Project will be completed largely between residencies via regular video-conferencing communication with your supervisor/mentor. The final requirement for the Capstone Project will be a presentation given to your cohort during the final Capstone Retreat.

DO I NEED TO FIND MY OWN MENTOR FOR WORKPLACE INTEGRATION?

A mentor will be provided to you in order to accompany you through the entirety of the program.

ADMISSION AND REGISTRATION DETAILS

WHEN DO I NEED TO APPLY?

We operate a staged admissions process with four rounds. Anticipated decision dates for each round are outlined in the table below. Please note that an application will not be considered within a round unless we have received the complete application, including all supporting documents, by 11:59 pm on the relevant deadline.

	Submission deadline:	Anticipated decision date:
ROUND 1	September 15, 2023	November 17, 2023
ROUND 2	November 1, 2023	January 19, 2024
ROUND 3	January 5, 2024	March 1, 2024
ROUND 4	February 2, 2024	April 1, 2024

Applications within each round will be reviewed in the order in which they were received, taking into consideration applicants' qualifications and objectives, as well as the goals of the program. In the event that the cohort fills before all rounds are complete, qualified applicants from the later rounds will be placed on a waitlist.

We recommend that you submit your completed application form as early as possible in order to ensure time to make arrangements for finances, work, and travel.

HOW MANY STUDENTS ARE ADMITTED TO THE PROGRAM EACH YEAR?

Each cohort in the MALTS program has an upper limit of 24 students. There is one cohort each year beginning in May.

CAN I TRANSFER CREDITS INTO THE MALTS PROGRAM FROM OTHER REGENT PROGRAMS OR SCHOOLS?

No transfer credits or exemptions from required courses in the MALTS program will be granted except in the following cases:

1. students who have taken Old Testament Foundations (BIBL 501) and/or New Testament Foundations (BIBL 502) at Regent College within seven years prior to their beginning in the MALTS program may substitute a course (either for credit or for audit) in place of the course(s) they have already taken; and
2. students who have taken a course equivalent to BIBL 501 and/or BIBL 502 at an accredited, graduate level institution within seven years prior to their beginning in the MALTS program must still take BIBL 501 and BIBL 502, but may do so either for credit or as an audit student.

Whether taken for audit or credit, your choice will not affect the cost of the program. If taken for audit, attendance and participation are still required. All other students must take all of the MALTS courses as prescribed. No exemptions will be granted on the basis of undergraduate courses.

ARE MALTS COURSES AVAILABLE TO THOSE WHO ARE NOT ENROLLED IN THE MALTS PROGRAM?

With the exception of Old Testament Foundations and New Testament Foundations, enrollment in MALTS courses is limited to those accepted into the MALTS program.

DO I NEED A STUDY PERMIT FOR THE RESIDENCES IF I AM COMING FROM OUTSIDE CANADA?

Yes. This is a graduate program running longer than six months, so you will need a study permit in order to study in Canada.

ONCE ADMITTED, DO I NEED TO REGISTER FOR COURSES?

You will be automatically registered for all courses prior to their respective residency.

RESIDENCY AND COURSE WORK DETAILS

WHAT IF I CAN'T ATTEND ONE OF THE RESIDENCIES? CAN I TAKE ANOTHER COURSE IN ITS PLACE?

If you miss or fail two or more courses in the MALTS program, you will be removed from your current cohort and you will need to apply for admission to another cohort at a later time. If readmitted, you will re-enter the program at the time corresponding to the missed and/or failed courses.

HOW MUCH OF MY TIME IS TAKEN UP DURING THE TWO-WEEK RESIDENCIES?

The residencies will be intensive learning experiences with six hours of class time per day plus some discussions over meals.

HOW MUCH WORK DO I HAVE TO DO OUTSIDE THE TWO-WEEK RESIDENCIES?

Apart from class time, each course requires about 100 hours of work (readings, written assignments, etc.); the Workplace Integration should take between two and three hours per week; and the Capstone Project should take between 250 and 300 hours in total.

Due to the fact that residencies take place at various times throughout the year, the time between them varies depending on the residency. The shortest gap between residencies is five months, while the longest is seven months. At its most intense, in the short, five-month gap between residencies two and three, you will be required to do an average of ten hours of work a week. At its least intense, in the seven-month gap between the third and fourth residencies, you will be required to do an average of seven hours of work a week. Do note that these are only estimates and the amount of time needed for assignments will vary somewhat from student to student depending on their reading and writing speeds.

HOW MANY WEEKS A YEAR DO I NEED TO BE AWAY FROM WORK?

The MALTS program runs over 24 months within three calendar years. The first residency consists of two weeks in the first calendar year. The second and third residencies consist of two weeks each, for a total of four weeks in the second calendar year. The final residency consists of two weeks and the Capstone Retreat consists of one week, for a total of three weeks in the third calendar year.

DO I NEED TO MAKE MY OWN TRAVEL ARRANGEMENTS?

Yes. You will need to make your own travel arrangements to and from Vancouver and to and from the location for the Capstone Retreat.

DO I NEED TO MAKE MY OWN ACCOMMODATION AND MEAL ARRANGEMENTS?

Accommodation and meals will be your responsibility during each residency. We will be glad to provide you with recommendations for both.

ARE ANY MEALS INCLUDED IN THE COST OF THE PROGRAM?

Each residency will have two catered meals, one at the beginning and the other at the end of the first week. Other than these meals, you will be responsible for your own meals throughout each residency.

HOW WILL I GET AROUND VANCOUVER?

The most economical solution is to take the local bus. Vancouver has a very good and reliable public transit system, one of the best in the world, according to its users. Alternatively, you may rent a car from the airport, hire taxis, or use a car-sharing program such as Evo or Modo.

PAYMENT DETAILS

HOW DO I SECURE MY PLACE IN THE NEXT MALTS COHORT?

After you have been admitted to the program, you will have one month to submit a commitment form with a non-refundable commitment deposit of $1,000 CDN. This deposit secures you a place in the upcoming MALTS cohort. Note that the deposit is forfeited if a student decides to defer their position to the following year.

How and when do I pay tuition?

HOW AND WHEN DO I PAY TUITION?

The total cost of tuition is $29,000 CDN. In addition to the $1,000 deposit, the tuition for the MALTS program is to be paid in four equal installments of $7,000 CDN. The payments are due one month before each respective residency.

HOW MUCH WILL BOOKS COST?

Book prices tend to fall between $85 and $200 CDN per course.

HOW DOES PAYMENT WORK FOR THE CAPSTONE RETREAT?

The cost of the Capstone Retreat, including accommodation and meals, is included in the overall tuition.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

All students are required to take our Foundational Core courses in Scripture, theology, and history. These courses construct the theological framework that is essential for growing into a passionate, confident communicator of the faith. MDiv students also take a series of Additional Requirements. These classes provide the hands-on skills necessary for effective pastoral ministry, including biblical languages, pastoral care, and preaching. Six credits are devoted to an on-the-job practicum, under the mentorship of seasoned ministers. The combination of academic and applied classes aims at the transformation of the whole person, as students seek to be conformed to the image of Christ in their thinking and in their day-to-day life.

Finally, MDiv students have the option of choosing one of several concentrations, focusing their elective courses in a specific area. While MDiv students are not required to choose a concentration, those wanting to focus on a particular question or discipline can do so.

Psychological Assessment Profile

In addition to the course work, MDiv students will also complete a Psychological Assessment Profile which will be administered by a registered psychologist. This will help you to gain self-awareness and to clarify your approach to leadership, solving interpersonal problems, and managing emotional well-being. The cost of the assessment is $600, although you may be eligible for partial coverage of this through your AMS Health & Dental Plan. You will be given instructions concerning this assessment in your first year of Supervised Ministry.

Notes on the Requirements

Regent offers the following programs for students seeking ordination in a particular denomination:

1. Anglican

In 1996, Regent College established a program for students interested in preparing for ministry in the Anglican communion worldwide. Two specific Anglican Studies courses are offered every two years: Anglican History & Theology and Anglican Life. Regent graduates have found a welcome acceptance of their training at Regent by many bishops, both in Canada and abroad. Visit the Anglican Studies page for more information.

2. Presbyterian

Regent College and St. Andrew's Hall at Vancouver School of Theology (VST) offer a joint program for students candidates for ministry in the Presbyterian Church of Canada (PCC). To take advantage of this option, you must apply for both an MDiv at Regent and a Diploma in Presbyterian Denominational Studies at VST. Courses required by the PCC and taken at VST may be transferred to Regent and applied to your MDiv, subject to Regent's approval of the courses in question. The Field Education component of the Diploma and the Supervised Ministry requirement for the MDiv may be satisfied simultaneously.

For further information on the Diploma program, please consult the Registrar at VST. If you wish to pursue the joint program, please consult with an Academic Advisor at Regent College and take careful note of Regent's transfer credit policy.

MASTER OF THEOLOGY

Supplement your MDiv or MA Theo Studies with focused study in a particular area of interest, deepening your understanding and preparing yourself for doctoral studies.

THE MASTER OF THEOLOGY IS ...

Personal: Engage in high-level, seminar-style classes with small cohorts of like-minded students. Receive one-on-one guidance from world-class Christian thinkers.

In-depth: Go deep with a topic or question that you want to study more closely.

Flexible: Choose whether to complete a thesis, focusing more time on a single research project, or spend more time in the classroom with the major paper track.

STUDENTS WHO TAKE THIS PROGRAM TYPICALLY ...

- want to study a specific theological question related to their vocation or personal life;
- are interested in pursuing a PhD;
- are pastors who want to build on their education or reflect theologically on a particular issue that is relevant to their ministry; or
- are preparing for a role where an advanced degree is of benefit.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

The ThM is the highest academic degree awarded by Regent College. In order to be admitted to the ThM program, you must have an MDiv or a master's degree in theological studies equivalent to Regent's MA in Theo Studies. You must also have completed that graduate program with a GPA of at least 3.3.

For required documents and to learn more about the application process, visit our Admission Requirements page.

Additional Requirements

Our ThM program requires deep and focused theological engagement. We require every ThM student to complete a particular list of courses either before or during their ThM in order to ensure that they are equipped to give adequate consideration to their subject matter. Some courses are required for all ThM students, while others are necessary only for those studying in a particular area.

Requirements applying to all ThM students:

We expect that all ThM students will have a theological background equivalent to Regent's MDiv program. If you have not completed the following courses in a previous program, you will be required to complete them as part of your ThM program:

- Old Testament Foundations (BIBL 501) and New Testament Foundations (BIBL 502)
- Biblical Exegesis & Interpretation (BIBL 503)
- History of Christianity Foundations (HIST 501) and History of Christianity: Reformation to Modern (HIST 502)
- Theology I (THEO 601) and Theology II (THEO 602)
- Biblical Languages: a minimum of 6 credit hours in one biblical language. This means at least 6 credit hours of either Hebrew (chosen from LANG 510, LANG 511, LANG 610, LANG 611, LANG 721); or Greek (chosen from LANG 550, LANG 551, LANG 650, LANG 651, LANG 720). Three credits of each language are not sufficient to satisfy this requirements. Please note that Language Perspectives (LANG 500) may not be used to satisfy this requirement.

Students may also satisfy part or all of the language requirement by writing a proficiency exam in Introductory Greek or Introductory Hebrew. There is a $100, non-refundable fee per exam. The exams are graded on a pass/fail basis. Students must register by August 1 for the Fall term or by December 1 for the Winter term. A $25 drop fee applies if the student cancels the exam after these deadlines. The exam will take place in the week before the semester begins. For more information, download the Language Proficiency Exam Application and contact deansoffice@regent-college.edu.

Subject-specific requirements:

You are welcome to pursue any field of study covered by our course offerings, as long as we have the faculty resources to give you the supervision you need. You are welcome to discuss potential research topics with members of faculty before applying to the ThM program.

Depending on your intended area of study and your academic record, the College may require additional courses in order to provide you with a better foundation to build on. For example, if you wish to write a thesis or a major paper in any of the following areas, you will be expected to have taken the courses indicated below or their equivalent. If you have not completed the following courses in a previous program, you will need to complete them as part of your ThM program:

Missions or World Christianity

- Introduction to World Christianity (WRLD 501)
- Missional Church (APPL 581)

Biblical Languages

- Hebrew (12 credits LANG 510, LANG 511, LANG 610, LANG 611)
- Greek (12 credits LANG 550, LANG 551, LANG 650, LANG 651)
- Advanced Greek Readings (LANG 720) or Advanced Hebrew Readings (LANG 721)

Spiritual Theology

- Vocation of the Artist Seminar (ARTS 701)

Notes on the Requirements

* A minimum graduate-level GPA of 3.5 is required to write a thesis.

A different ThM seminar may be offered from time to time.

The Major Paper will involve a 7,500–10,000 word essay and will be supervised by a full-time faculty member in the appropriate discipline.

While the College cannot guarantee thesis supervision if you were admitted to the ThM with less than a 3.5 GPA in your previous graduate studies, you may be permitted to write a thesis under the following conditions: (i) you achieve at least a 3.5 GPA in at least 9 credit hours taken at Regent College, and (ii) you secure the agreement of a member of faculty to supervise your thesis.

ACADEMIC POLICIES

Our Academic Catalogue details all the requirements and policies relevant to your studies at Regent.

The Academic Catalogue contains policies, rules, schedules, and information that form part of a student's legal contract with Regent College. As such, you should familiarize yourself with its contents.

Catalogues for each year are in effect from September 1 through until August 31.

If you were admitted in a previous year, you may find a pdf copy of your Academic Catalogue in the left sidebar below; otherwise, refer to the paper copy you were given. You may complete the program to which you have been admitted according to the requirements as they were in the year you were admitted, provided you do so within the allowed time limit. Or you may complete according to more recent requirements.

While it is your responsibility to be familiar with the Academic Catalogue, we invite you to take advantage of our Academic Advising at any time.

Non-academic policies, such as the Student Code of Conduct Policy, can be found in the Fine Print section of the website.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS AND POLICIES

The course requirements for each program can be found in our Graduate Programs section.

Information on admission to programs is on the Admission Requirements page.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT

Some aspects of the educational experience offered by Regent College are available only when students share in the community at the Vancouver campus. For this reason, we require our students to complete a set number of credits “in residence,” meaning on campus:

GradDipCS	12 credits
MA Christian Studies	21 credits
MA Theo Studies	30 credits
MALTS	24 credits
MDiv	45 credits
ThM	18 credits

Residency is defined as study pursued on the Vancouver campus in Fall, Winter, or Summer term. Courses taken online do not fulfill the residency requirement. However, you can complete approximately one-half of your program by Online Courses. See the Limits on Courses Taken Through Online Courses below.

If you intend both to transfer credits from another institution and to take courses online, we advise you to plan carefully to ensure that you meet the residency requirement.

DEGREE LIMITATIONS ON COURSES TAKEN ONLINE

Regent College places a high priority on face-to-face education. At the same time, it recognizes the need to make a limited amount of courses accessible online for students. The credit limit for online courses within each program is generally one half of the total program credits. These limits are as follows:

GradDipCS	12 credits
MA Christian Studies	21 credits
MA Theo Studies	30 credits
MALTS	0 credits
MDiv	45 credits
ThM	6 credits

Note: Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, classes taken online from March 2020 to the end of April 2023 are not counted towards a student's online credit total.

TIME LIMITS FOR COMPLETION OF PROGRAMS

You are expected to satisfy all program requirements in effect at the time you were accepted into a program. If you exceed the program time limits noted below, you must appeal in writing to the Academic Standards Committee to complete your program. You may be required by the Committee to take additional courses, particularly if the program has been modified since you were admitted. The maximum time limits for each program are:

- GradDipCS: no time limit
- MA Christian Studies: 4 years
- MA Theo Studies: 6 years
- MALTS: 2 years
- MDiv: 8 years
- ThM: 5 years

We encourage you to complete your degree requirements while resident in Vancouver. Note that some required courses are offered only during Fall and Winter terms.

MALTS students will normally complete their program within 2 years. Under exceptional circumstances, students admitted to a MALTS cohort may appeal to transfer to a later cohort.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE POLICY

If you experience an interruption in your program, you may apply for a Leave of Absence. An approved Leave of Absence pauses your time to completion. If you are an international student on a study permit, it also allows Regent to report your status as on "Authorized Leave". A Leave of Absence is subject to the following conditions:

- Applicants must fill out a Leave of Absence request form, which is subject to the approval of the Registrar.
- A Leave of Absence is normally granted for up to one academic year, but may be renewed for a maximum of one additional year upon request.
- A Leave of Absence is granted only once per program.

- Reasons for a Leave of Absence include, but are not limited to, parental leave, medical leave, family emergency, compassionate leave, or financial difficulty.
- An approved Leave of Absence for reasons of parental leave, medical leave, or a family emergency will allow a student to defer financial aid (when applicable) for up to one academic year. A leave granted for another reason, or if it is extended for a second year, will require a separate appeal to the Financial Aid Committee for a deferral.
- You may return to classes during your leave, thus ending it earlier than planned. If you do not return at the end of your granted leave time, you will be considered inactive in your program.

COMBINING & RELINQUISHING DEGREES

If you wish to complete two master's degrees in theology, you will be subject to certain restrictions on how many credit hours may be shared between the two degrees. In principle, you may share 50% of the credits of the shorter degree with the longer one. For example, in order to complete both an MA Theo Studies and an MDiv degree, you are allowed to have a maximum of 30 credit hours in common between the two; thus, you must earn a minimum of 120 credit hours for the two degrees. The sharing of credits does not apply to the ThM program which requires a minimum of 24 credit hours beyond an MDiv or an MA Theo Studies. We discourage you from attempting to complete two degree programs concurrently.

If you have graduated from a Regent College program and you wish to pursue another program at Regent College, you are permitted to relinquish your degree. In this case, you would be eligible to apply all of the credits from your first degree to a subsequent program, provided those credits satisfy the requirements of the second program. So, for example, if you graduated with the MA in Christian Studies degree, and later decided you would like to pursue either the MA in Theological Studies degree or the MDiv degree, you would be permitted to relinquish your MACS degree so that you could (potentially) apply all 42 credit hours towards the new program. In order to relinquish your degree, you must do the following:

- be admitted to another program at Regent College,
- write a letter to the Registrar requesting that you be withdrawn as a graduate from the program, and
- return your original graduation certificate to Regent College.

A comment will appear on your academic transcript indicating that you have relinquished a degree.

TERMS, CREDIT HOURS, AND WORK LOAD

Regent College operates on a three-term cycle:

- Fall (September–December)
- Winter (January–April)
- Summer (May–August)

Fall and Winter Terms

Fall and Winter Term courses are normally offered for 3 credit hours and meet 3 hours per week.

Evening and weekend courses may be offered for 2 or 3 credit hours.

In cases where a 3-credit hour course spans over two terms (Fall and Winter), you will be charged for 1.5 credits in each term; however, you will not receive any academic credit until the full course has been completed.

Summer Term

The Summer Term is divided into two sessions: Spring Session and Summer Session. Although the dates for these sessions vary, Spring Session courses are generally offered in May and early June, and Summer Session courses from late June through July. Some courses, especially the biblical languages, run into the month of August.

Summer Term courses vary: one-week courses are normally 1 or 2 credit hours, two-week courses are 2 or 3 credit hours, three-week courses are 3 credit hours (6 credits of Hebrew or Greek may also be taken in the Summer).

COURSE LOAD

If you are taking courses for academic credit, you may expect to invest a minimum of 45 hours of work into a course for each credit hour. Where applicable, this includes class lectures, assigned reading, papers, assignments, and exams.

In any given term, a full load of academic work is considered to be 12 credit hours. This presupposes that you spend about 40 hours per week (i.e., 8 hours per day over 5 days) over the 14 weeks of a Fall or Winter term attending lectures and completing assignments and exams. While some students do take more than 12 credits per term, this is a significant amount of academic work; therefore, we encourage you, where possible, to spread your studies out over Regent's academic year (Fall, Winter, and Summer Terms), particularly if you wish to earn 30 credit hours per year. If English is a second language for you, you are encouraged to take no more than 9 credit hours in your first term.

For important information relating to the offering of courses at Regent College, see the General Course Information page.

FULL-TIME STATUS

In contrast to a full load of studies, defined above, full-time status is the minimum credit load required for various purposes. For most purposes, full-time study is defined as 9 credit hours per term, or 18 credit hours per academic year (September to August).

You should be aware of specific criteria that apply if:

- You are applying for financial aid--whether a Canadian student loan, a US student loan, or a Regent College bursary or scholarship
 - You have a study permit and you want to work in Canada
 - You are applying for one of Regent College's tuition discounts
 - You are wanting to receive a T2202A form for income tax purposes.

ONLINE ACCESS TO ONSITE COURSES

If a course is offered both onsite and online, students must register for the online section of the course to gain online access. Normally, online access is given via Zoom.

Zoom link sharing is prohibited. This includes viewing a course in a group with people who have not registered in the course's online section. Zoom access sharing may result in the student being dropped from the class.

Registering for an online section counts towards the online credit limit in the student's program.

TEMPORARY ONLINE ACCESS FOR ONSITE STUDENTS

Normally, students registered in the onsite section of a course will not receive any online access. This includes access to course recordings. Exceptions may be made at the course instructor's discretion, only if the course already has an online section, including but not limited to the following reasons:

- Illness or injury of the student
- Illness or injury of a student's dependent
- Emergency childcare issues

Students who have been granted temporary online access are expected to return to attending the course onsite as soon as they are able, at which point their online access will be withdrawn.

Students will not normally be given temporary online access due to:

- Personal and work scheduling conflicts
- Church work
- Providing hospitality
- Vacation

Students who need to change their registration from onsite to online during the term may appeal to the Registrar to change their registration. Online access fees may apply, and the course will then count towards the student's online credit limit.

COURSE RECORDINGS

A course instructor may choose to record their course if it already has an online section. Recordings will normally only be accessible to students in the online section of the course who cannot reasonably be expected to attend the course live. Students should contact the course instructor to request permission to access recordings.

Grounds for accessing course recordings may include:

- Time zone differences
- An unavoidable scheduling conflict between courses required in a student's program
- Illness or injury of the student
- Illness or injury of a student's dependent
- Emergency childcare issues

Grounds that will not normally be considered valid for receiving access to recordings include:

- Personal review of course material
- Personal and work scheduling conflicts
- Church work
- Providing hospitality
- Vacation
- Failing to anticipate course workload

If a course is recorded, students will be notified via the course syllabus. Wherever possible, students in recorded courses may choose to sit where they cannot be recorded in the classroom or turn off their camera if they are participating online. Recordings are normally deleted at the end of each term and will not be posted outside of the course Moodle page or used for another class, including a subsequent year of the same class.

Students are not normally permitted to record lectures privately. For exceptions, students must seek permission to record from the instructor or through academic accommodations via UBC. If a student is permitted to make a personal recording of a class, the instructor will notify other students that a recording is being made without revealing the individual making the recording. Such recordings are only for personal academic use, and not for distribution of any kind.

Students are not permitted to distribute course recordings, including, but not limited to, watching recordings with someone not permitted to view course recordings, link sharing, or posting recordings online. Unauthorized distribution of recordings may result in the student losing access to course recordings and being dropped from the course.

STYLE GUIDE AND PAPER FORMATS

The standard style used at Regent College is modified Chicago Manual of Style as outlined in Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, current ed. (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1996). You must follow this style unless your professor specifically directs you otherwise.

For further information, see the Research and Writing section of the Allison Library website.

RESEARCH WITH HUMAN PARTICIPANTS

Students who engage in research involving human participants must adhere to the following guidelines taken from the Tri-Council Policy Statement: Ethical Conduct for Research Involving Humans:

- obtaining consent of human participants in advance of conducting any research,
 - fully informing human participants of the nature and purpose of the research and of any likely benefits or risks they may face,
 - keeping personal information confidential, and
 - treating human participants fairly and equitably.

GUIDED STUDY

A guided study is a course in which you are able to focus on an issue of your particular interest under the guidance of one of the regular full-time faculty of Regent College. Only students who are admitted to Regent College are permitted to take a guided study. Furthermore, you are limited to a maximum of one guided study per term for a total of:

Total Guided Studies Permitted by Program

GradDipCS	2
MA Christian Studies	2
MA Theological Studies	3
MALTS	0
MDiv	4
ThM	1

Guided studies may be taken for 1, 2, or 3 credit hours depending on the amount of work involved (1 credit for each 45 hours of work).

Guided studies are subject to the availability of a faculty supervisor, are subject to the same academic guidelines as other regular courses, and are not offered in place of regularly offered courses.

If you wish to take a guided study, you must, in consultation with a faculty supervisor, complete a Guided Study Contract and submit it to the Student Services Office with your registration form or course change form at the beginning of a Fall or Winter Term.

Guided studies are not normally offered in the Summer Term (note that if you are permitted to take a guided study in the Summer, you may be liable to the U-Pass fee throughout the Summer). Guided studies must be completed within the Fall or Winter Term in which they are registered. Note that only a general title will appear on your transcript (e.g., Guided Study: Applied Theology).

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Attendance is expected at all classes. If you must miss a class, for whatever reason, you are encouraged to contact your instructor prior to the class. Instructors are at liberty to assign grade penalties for unexcused absences.

EXTENSIONS FOR ASSIGNMENTS

Assignment deadlines can usually be found in your course syllabus. These deadlines are considered to be part of the course requirements. Due to the additional workload and inconvenience for faculty to have to grade late papers, and due to the College's intention to be fair to students who submit their work on time, we will consider extensions only in exceptional circumstances. You should take serious consideration of this when planning your course load.

Download the Course Extension Application .

Grounds for an Extension

Extensions for course work are granted only in cases where the student demonstrates there was an unforeseeable and unavoidable emergency. Emergencies considered to be grounds for an extension typically include:

- personal sickness or injury which prevents one from working
- sickness, injury or death which requires the student's attention
- emotional or psychological crisis for which the student has sought professional help
- unexpected increase in job responsibilities

By contrast, the following will not normally be considered grounds for an extension: church work, providing hospitality, vacations, relocating, difficult living situations, failure to anticipate the amount of work involved in a course, confusion over the nature of the assignments, computer problems (it is your responsibility to keep files backed up), lost assignments, lack of proficiency in English. If you have a permanent disability requiring an accommodation, contact the Access and Diversity Office on the UBC campus.

Application Process

Please read the following carefully: Failure to follow extension policy instructions will normally result in a grade of F being assigned to the course. Note that the grading of assignments submitted on extension may take longer than usual.

For Fall and Winter courses offered on the Vancouver campus:

For assignments due within the term (i.e., prior to the last day of final exams), assuming you have legitimate grounds as defined above, extensions may be granted at the discretion of your instructor. When requesting an extension, you may also present supporting documentation (e.g., a note from someone whose care or supervision you have been under).

- For an extension with a deadline up to 7 days after the end of the term, you must appeal to your instructor.
- If your condition is such that you need to appeal for a further extension beyond that deadline and up to 30 days after the end of the term, you may submit a Course Extension Application through REGIS by no later than the extension deadline given by your instructor. You must also provide evidence, either to Reception (e.g., a signed note) or by email to Academic Advising (e.g., an email exchange), that your instructor granted you the prior extension.

For Spring and Summer Session courses offered on the Vancouver campus:

Assignments are typically due 45 days after the last class, although some may be due earlier (see your course syllabus). If you require an extension beyond the assignment deadline: (i) complete a Course Extension Application form through REGIS by that deadline, and (ii) pay a $25 fee. Note that your assignments may be graded by someone other than the course instructor.

Notification: You should receive e-mail notification from the Student Services Office within 5 business days of submitting your application form. If an extension is granted, the e-mail will include instructions on how and when to submit your assignments.

Submission of Assignments

For extensions granted by the course instructor, submit your assignment(s) directly to him/her via Reception. For all other extensions, attach the Extension Submission Form (which you will receive from Student Services) and submit or post your assignment(s) to the Student Services Office, or email it/them to Academic Advising, by the assigned deadline. Assignments granted by the Student Services Office or the Academic Standards Committee must not be submitted directly to the professor or the TA. Failure to submit assignments by the assigned deadline will normally result in an assignment grade reduction of 1/3 of a letter grade per day late.

Extraordinary Situations

In a situation where the crisis you are facing continues beyond the extension granted by the Student Services Office, you may appeal for a further extension to the Academic Standards Committee. In order to do so, write a letter of appeal and submit it, along with supporting documentation, to Academic Advising. The decision of the Academic Standards Committee shall be final. Note that the Academic Standards Committee does not normally grant an extension for more than four months beyond the original submission deadline.

If it is not possible for you to complete the course, you may apply (through the same email address) for a Withdrawal from the course (a grade of W on the transcript). The latter type of appeal is normally accompanied by a letter of support from someone whose care or supervision you have been under (e.g., doctor, professional counselor). Note that a W ("Withdrawal") on your transcript would not affect your GPA, whereas an F ("Failure") would adversely affect it.

WITHDRAWAL POLICY

Students who undergo extreme hardship that was not of their causing, was beyond their ability to control, and prevented them from completing course requirements even given an extension, may appeal to the Registrar for a Withdrawal from the course. This would normally be accompanied by a letter from a professional supporting your appeal (e.g., your doctor). If granted, a grade of W will be recorded on your transcript; this does not affect the GPA.

COURSE RETAKE POLICY

You may retake a course—subject to regular registration restrictions and limitations—in an effort to achieve a higher grade. This involves registering and paying tuition for the course a second time. Both courses will appear on the transcript in the terms they were taken; however, credit will not be granted more than once, and the best grade achieved will be retained. Only one retake will be permitted per course.

Since retaking a course in the MALTS program involves joining another cohort, MALTS students who want to retake a course must appeal to the Academic Standards Committee for permission to do so. Please contact the MALTS Administrator.

Comprehensive exams may be retaken only once; you will be assessed a comprehensive exam retake fee. Retaking a course often requires a manual adjustment to the student transcript; so, when you have received the grade for a retaken course, please inform the Student Services Office.

AEGROTAT POLICY

The grade designation AG (Aegrotat) is granted when, for reasons of serious illness or other extraordinary circumstances outside your control, you are unable to complete a course. Application for consideration must be made to the Academic Dean no later than one week of the end of the course. A favourable evaluation may be given where the circumstance is beyond doubt, where you have an otherwise excellent record of completion, and where neither further assessment (e.g., a deferred exam) nor extension of time are considered feasible (e.g., you are in the final term of a program of study). The Academic Dean, in consultation with other members of Faculty, shall determine whether the course should be awarded an AG (passing but without grade point) or a grade calculated on the basis of work already completed for the course. If your application is denied, you will be given a grade based on the work you submitted in the course.

TRANSFER CREDITS AND EXEMPTIONS

If you've already completed theological studies at a graduate school that is accredited by a nationally-recognized body (i.e., equivalent to the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada), you may be granted transfer credit for that work.

Such credit will be given only for courses considered relevant to Regent's programs and of equivalent academic standard. Credit will not normally be granted for courses that are not theological in nature or have not been taught from a theological perspective.

The maximum amount of transfer credit varies according to each program:

GradDipCS	6 credits
MA Christian Studies	21 credits
MA Theological Studies	30 credits
MALTS	6 credits
MDiv	45 credits
ThM	0 credits

Note:

1. Transfer Credits: A minimum grade of B (or a Pass in a Pass/Fail course) is required for courses to be considered for transfer.

Since credits may be defined differently at different institutions, transfer credits from some institutions will be subject to a ratio to make them equal to credits taken at Regent. Transfer credit from non-accredited institutions is not normally given. Under no circumstances will transfer credit be awarded for work or life experience.

If you can show that a particular undergraduate course from an accredited institution has special relevance to your program at Regent, you may be granted transfer credit at a 3:2 ratio, provided you earned at least a B+ in it and provided the course was not used to satisfy the requirements of your undergraduate degree. First or second year undergraduate level courses will not normally be considered for transfer, with the exception of courses in biblical Hebrew or Greek which may be transferred at full credit value.

If you intend to transfer credits from another institution, you must plan carefully to ensure that you meet the Residency Requirement.

2. Advanced Standing with Credit: For students coming from certain undergraduate programs that have demonstrated rigour and that have a broad exposure to biblical studies, history, and theology, a limited amount of advanced standing with credit may be granted. Such standing will be granted only if (i) you graduated from the undergraduate program within seven years of being admitted to Regent College, (ii) you obtained a grade point average of at least 3.7 on a 4-point scale in your undergraduate program, and (iii) you have obtained at least an A- in courses that match specific Regent College introductory courses.

The maximum number of credit hours of advanced standing you may be granted will depend on your Regent College program:

GradDipCS	0 credits
MA Christian Studies	9 credits
MA Theological Studies	12 credits
MALTS	0 credits
MDiv	18 credits
ThM	0 credits

3. Exemptions (Advanced Standing without Credit): You may also request exemption from specific required courses at Regent on the basis of undergraduate work you did at an accredited institution, whether it was part of your undergraduate degree or not. A minimum grade of B+ is required for exemption consideration. Exemption, however, does not entail transfer of credit; therefore, you must take other (normally more advanced) courses in the same discipline in order to make up the total number of credit hours required for a diploma or a degree.

4. MALTS Program: For the MALTS program, due to the strategic importance of learning together as a cohort, transfer credits and exemptions from required courses may be granted only in two circumstances: (i) if, within seven years of beginning the MALTS program, you have completed Old Testament Foundations (BIBL 501) and/or New Testament Foundations (BIBL 502), you may substitute another course (either for credit or for audit) in place of the course(s) you have already taken; or (ii) if, within seven years of beginning the MALTS program, you have taken a course equivalent to BIBL 501 and/or BIBL 502 at an accredited, graduate level institution, attaining a grade of B or better, you must still take these courses, but you may do so either for credit or for audit. Your choice in either scenario will not affect the cost of the program. In all other cases, no transfer credits or exemptions will be granted. If you have any questions, please contact the MALTS Administrator.

5. Applying for Transfer Credits and/or Advanced Standing: You may apply for transfer credits and/or advanced standing online directly through your REGIS student account. Alternatively, you may contact the Academic Advisor & Administrator who can assess what transfer credits and/or exemptions you would be entitled to. Note that in addition to supplying an official transcript to Regent College, you may also be asked to provide a college catalogue or course syllabus that describes the course(s) you have taken.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY, PROBATION, APPEALS

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

All students at Regent College are expected to practise uncompromised integrity in all academic matters. The fact that Regent is a Christian college makes vigilance in this area all the more imperative. Consequently, academic offences shall not be tolerated.

Academic Offences

Academic offences that are subject to penalty include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Plagiarism: A student's work must be their own. Plagiarism is an academic offence in which someone presents, in whole or in part, the work of another person or AI text generator as his or her own work. Academic work properly involves the examination, critical evaluation, and utilization of contributions of other people. However, whenever someone uses the contributions of others in an academic setting, he or she must acknowledge the author of those contributions through footnotes or other acceptable referencing practices. Direct quotations must be clearly and properly indicated. Failure to do so, whether intentionally or accidentally, constitutes plagiarism. Plagiarism can occur in written work (e.g., failure to acknowledge the use of other people's words and ideas) and in non-written work (e.g., failure to acknowledge the use of other people's images or creations in a work of art, or of other people's words in an oral presentation).
2. Cheating: Cheating is an academic offence involving the failure to follow the instructions pertaining to the conditions for writing an assignment or examination, or falsifying material subject to academic evaluation. Cheating includes, but is not exclusive to, copying work from another person or text, using unauthorized materials or equipment in an examination, using unauthorized technology such as AI text generators, obtaining examinations or similar materials by improper means, and impersonating another student or submitting work under another student's name.
3. Duplicating Assignments: It is an academic offence to submit the same, or substantially the same, essay, presentation, or assignment in more than one course, whether the earlier presentation was at Regent College or at another institution, unless prior approval has been obtained.
4. False Representation: Making false representation by submitting false records or information, whether in writing or orally, by falsifying or submitting false documents (including, but not limited to, the following: transcripts, letters of reference, financial aid documents), or by failing to submit required records or information, is an academic offence.

Penalties

The assessment of penalties for academic offences is at the discretion of the Academic Standards Committee; recommendations for suspension shall be referred to the Senate. Where the Committee determines that a student's behaviour does warrant discipline, it may impose one or more of the following penalties:

1. A reduced grade, including a grade of zero or Fail, on the assignment, test, or exam in question.
2. A reduced grade, including a grade of Fail, on the course in question.
3. A notation to be placed on the student's transcript stating that the student has committed an academic offence and indicating the penalty imposed.
4. Suspension or cancellation of any bursaries, scholarships, or other forms of financial aid.
5. Suspension from the College, whether for a specified period of time, an indefinite period of time, or permanently (i.e., expulsion).
6. Rejection of admission to a program or to the College.

Consideration of the severity of the offence shall be given in determining the appropriate penalty. Under normal circumstances, however, the penalties shall be as follows:

1. In cases of plagiarism or cheating, the penalty for the first offence shall be failure of the course; the penalty for a subsequent offence shall be failure of the course and suspension from the College.
2. In the case of duplicating assignments, the penalty for the first offence shall be a full letter grade reduction in the course and the student shall be required to re-write and submit the assignment in acceptable form; the penalty for a second offence shall be failure of the course and suspension from the College.
3. In the case of false representation in the context of an application for admission, the penalty shall be rejection of admission to the College; in the case of false representation in the context of a course, the penalty shall be failure of the course and suspension from the College.

In all cases of academic offence, a notice shall be placed in the student's file. In the case of suspension, a notation of the penalty shall be entered on the student's record, which shall appear on his or her academic transcript. After at least two years following the termination of the suspension, the student may appeal to the Academic Standards Committee to have this notation removed. Students shall not receive credit for courses taken at another institution while on suspension.

Process

All work submitted by students may be reviewed, by whatever means seem appropriate, to ensure that an academic offence has not been committed. These means may include, but are not limited to, using one or more software and/or internet-based service to verify the authenticity and originality of students' work. Professors who find that a student has committed an academic offence may, at their discretion, require the student to resubmit the assignment with an appropriate penalty. Alternatively, they may report their findings to the Registrar, with supporting evidence and a proposed penalty. If a professor chooses to allow the student to resubmit an assignment and the alleged offence is not remedied, it will be reported to the Registrar with evidence.

Upon receipt of a report from a professor of an alleged academic offence, the Registrar shall refer the matter, along with supporting evidence provided by the professor, to the Academic Standards Committee. The student shall also be invited to respond, in writing, to the allegations being raised against him or her. The student shall be given a minimum of fourteen days to provide a written defense before the Academic Standards Committee meets. The Academic Standards Committee shall consider the evidence provided by the professor and the defense provided by the student (if any), and any other information that may be relevant to the case, in determining whether or not an academic offence has been committed, and, if so, what the appropriate penalty shall be, with reference to the penalties outlined above. Where the penalty is suspension from the College, the Academic Standards Committee shall make recommendation to the Senate and the Senate shall make the final decision regarding the penalty.

The student has the right to appeal, in writing, to the Senate the decision or recommendation of the Academic Standards Committee regarding a penalty against him or her. Letters of appeal must be submitted to the Academic Dean within thirty days of the decision of the Academic Standards Committee, failing which, no appeal shall be entertained by the Senate. The Senate shall consider whatever information has been provided by the Academic Standards Committee and by the student, and any other information that may be relevant to the case, in deciding whether to uphold the recommendation of the Academic Standards Committee, to impose a different penalty, or not to impose a penalty at all. All decisions of the Senate are final.

ACADEMIC PROBATION

The purpose of the probation policy is to alert students, where applicable, to the fact that they are not succeeding academically and to impress upon them the importance of giving serious attention to their academic performance in order to continue their studies. The policy also provides a mechanism for preventing students who are not likely to succeed from continuing their studies.

Criteria for Probation

Students admitted to Regent College are expected to maintain a grade point average (GPA) high enough to graduate. Students admitted to a program must maintain the minimum graduation GPA for that program (see Graduation Requirements and Procedures). In addition, students admitted with Special Student status must maintain the minimum graduation GPA for the GradDipCS program over the first 30 credit hours, but must maintain the minimum GPA for the MA Theo Studies program in order to go beyond 30 credit hours. Students who have a GPA below the minimum level shall be placed on academic probation.

Process for Students on Probation

Students who have been placed on probation for having a low GPA shall be required to develop a plan for academic recovery and to submit it to the Student Services Office. The plan should address what steps the student will take over the following year (e.g., retaking courses, reducing one's academic load, curtailing outside activities, changing one's program) in order to restore one's GPA to the level required for graduation. Students on probation are encouraged to meet with the Academic Advisor and/or with the Dean of Students to discuss ways of improving their academic performance.

Students shall be removed from probation whenever their GPA is sufficient to meet the graduation requirement for their current program.

Note: Students on probation are not eligible for financial aid from the College, and may not be eligible for Canadian or American student loans.

Action to be Taken at the End of Probation Year

While the College wants all students to succeed academically and so to complete their programs, remaining on probation for an entire year shall be considered sufficient grounds for requiring a student to discontinue his or her studies.

The Academic Standards Committee shall meet to discuss the academic prospect of students who remain on probation for one year or more. In such a situation, the student shall be invited to write a letter of explanation to the Committee before it meets. The Committee will take into consideration all aspects of a student's performance and circumstances and, in its best judgment, will decide whether or not he or she is likely to succeed academically. In cases where the Committee allows a student to continue, it may stipulate whatever conditions it believes are appropriate in order to help the student to succeed academically.

In cases where the Committee decides to prevent the student from registering for further courses, an indication that the student is not in good standing shall be made on the student's academic transcript. Probationary status, however, shall not be indicated on the transcript.

Appeal Process

Where the Academic Standards Committee has decided not to allow a student to continue to register for courses, the student may appeal in writing, within 60 days of the decision of the Committee, to the Senate of the College. The decision of the Senate shall be final. Students shall not be permitted to register for or take courses at Regent while an appeal is in process.

APPEALS

Students who feel aggrieved regarding a decision relative to their academic program (e.g., admission to a degree, a ruling regarding an academic requirement or policy) may appeal the decision. The general appeal process is as follows:

1. The appeal would normally be made, in the first instance, to the person or committee responsible for the contested decision.
2. Where the student is not satisfied that the appeal has been fairly heard or considered, or where he or she wishes to appeal for an exception to College policy, a further appeal may be made:

- In the case of an admissions matter, appeal should be directed to the Admissions Committee, which meets regularly throughout the year.
- In the case of a ruling regarding an academic requirement or policy, appeal should be made to the Academic Standards Committee. For specific information on the appeal process for the following, see the relevant section in this Catalogue:

Course Extensions

Final Project Extension

Academic Probation

Academic Offences

- In a case involving an exception to Registration procedures or payment refunds, appeal should be made to the Director of Enrollment Services.
- In a case involving a question concerning financial aid, appeal can be made to the Financial Aid Committee.

Grade Appeals

In the case of an appeal of a course grade, students are encouraged first to discuss the matter directly with the course instructor. If, in the opinion of the student, the issue is still not resolved, he or she may make a formal appeal to the Registrar. The appeal will consist of:

1. a written statement articulating clearly the basis on which the student believes he or she deserves a grade higher than what was received;
2. all graded material for the course, with the assignment(s) to be reviewed in the original marked form; and
3. a $75 re-assessment fee (to be returned to the student if the grade is increased).

This appeal must be received within one month of the posting of the course grade in the student's academic record. Note that oral assignments, practica, and final or capstone projects are not eligible for re-assessment.

The Registrar will forward the appeal to the Academic Dean (or designate) who will do the following:

1. Based on the student's written statement, the Academic Dean will determine whether there is a prima facie basis for an appeal. Appeals based merely on the student's disagreement with the professional assessment of the instructor will not be considered.
2. In the case where the Academic Dean believes there is not a prima facie basis for an appeal, the appeal process will end and the student's grade will remain unchanged.
3. In the case where the Academic Dean believes there is a prima facie basis for an appeal, he or she may discuss the matter with the original instructor and possibly assign the student's work to another qualified grader for re-assessment.
4. The decision of the Academic Dean with regard to whether or not the grade is to be raised, lowered, or remain unchanged shall be final.

SUBMISSION DEADLINES FOR ACADEMIC STANDARDS COMMITTEE

Letters appealing for an exception to Regent's academic policies or requirements should be written to the Academic Standards Committee and submitted to the Academic Advisor & Administrator. The deadline for submission of appeals is two weeks prior to a meeting.

FINAL PROJECTS

FINAL PROJECTS

All students in the MA Theo Studies and ThM programs must complete some type of final project in order to graduate.

MA Theo Studies students, depending on the concentration, have a choice of:

- a comprehensive examination/paper
- an integrative exam
- a thesis
- an integrative project
- an integrative project in the arts and theology

ThM students have a choice of:

- a thesis
- a major paper

All MALTS students will complete a final Capstone Project.

MDiv students do not need to complete a final project. Instead, their program includes a supervised ministry component and additional course work.

FINAL PROJECT DETAILS:

MACS Integrative exam (3 credits)

The integrative exam is the final project for students in the MA Christian Studies program. It is designed as an integrative exercise, that tests a student's ability to reflect theologically across the breadth of Regent's curriculum, and particularly what such reflection means for the Christian life.

PREPARATION

You prepare by reading a set list of readings selected from across Regent's concentrations (approximately 4,000 pages).

WHAT TO EXPECT

The written examination is a take-home exam that will be completed during the course of one week and focuses on integrative questions related to the reading list. The exam will be made available on Moodle, and you will upload your written answers to that same site.

GRADING

The final grade will be determined by your performance in the written exam. The passing grade for the MACS integrative exam is B-.

HOW TO REGISTER

Register for INDS 794 through REGIS.

You are required to write the integrative exam in the term that you register for it.

UPCOMING DEADLINES AND EXAM DATES

For upcoming registration deadlines, and for exam dates, please see the Important Dates section of the website. If the exam is all you are registering for in the term, register before the beginning of the term in order to avoid a late registration fee.

Comprehensive exam (3 credits)

The comprehensive examination tests the breadth of your knowledge within a concentration. The exam includes a written component, and, if required by your examining professor, an oral component.

PREPARATION

You prepare by reading a representative selection of material (normally between 3,000 and 4,000 pages) chosen by your concentration coordinator.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The written examination is normally three or four hours long, and focuses on specific questions taken from topics related to the reading list. The oral examination, if required, will be more general within the field of interest and will provide the opportunity to amplify what has been tested in the written examination.

GRADING

The final grade will be determined by your performance in the written, and if required, oral exam. The oral exam will not detract from the grade achieved in the written part, but may enhance it. The passing grade for the comprehensive exam is B-.

HOW TO REGISTER

- Meet with your concentration coordinator to arrange for a member of faculty to serve as your supervisor.
- Complete the Final Project Form and have it signed by your supervisor.
- Submit together at Reception: Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, regular Registration/Course Change form & payment of tuition and fees

UPCOMING DEADLINES AND EXAM DATES

For upcoming registration deadlines, and for exam dates, please see the Important Dates section of the website. If the exam is all you are registering for in the term, register before the beginning of the term in order to avoid a late registration fee.

The Assistant to the Dean will notify you of the precise date and time of your written exam shortly after the registration deadline stated above, but you will need to consult with your supervisor to arrange an oral exam if it is required.

You are required to take the comprehensive exam in the term in which you register for it.

Comprehensive paper (3 credits)

With the approval of your supervisor, the exam may take the form of a major paper. As this is an alternative within the comprehensive exam track, similar policies apply. You should be aware that this option will probably consume more time than the exam option.

PREPARATION

The paper will be based on the same reading list as the exam.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The paper should be approximately 10,000 words (40 pages) and should demonstrate comprehensive knowledge of all the material on the reading list.

GRADING

The faculty supervisor will select a second reader for the paper. Each of them will grade the paper and together, they may conduct an oral exam that will cover both the paper and the reading. The final grade will be determined by your performance in both the paper and the oral exam. The oral exam will not detract from the grade achieved in the paper, but may enhance it. The passing grade for a comprehensive paper is B-.

HOW TO REGISTER

- Meet with your concentration coordinator to arrange for a member of faculty to serve as your supervisor.
- Complete the Final Project Form and have it signed by your supervisor. (Note that the Comprehensive Paper is actually a variant of the Comprehensive Exam.)
- Submit together at Reception: Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, regular Registration/Course Change form & payment of tuition and fees

UPCOMING DEADLINES

For upcoming registration deadlines, please see the Important Dates section of the website.

If the paper is all you are registering for in the term, register before the beginning of the term in order to avoid a late registration fee.

Your submission deadline is the last day of the term in which you register. If that is a Winter term and you are planning to graduate at the end of that term, confer with your supervisor to see whether he or she needs you to submit by an earlier date in order to allow sufficient time for grading.

MATS Integrative exam (3 credits)

The integrative examination is the final project for students in the discontinued Christian Studies track of the MA Theological Studies program. It is designed so that you can demonstrate an integrated Christian mind: a world-and-life-view that will structure your piety and practice. To this end, it emphasizes general frameworks of analysis the theologically based response.

PREPARATION

You prepare by reading a broad selection of material (normally between 3,000 and 4,000 pages) chosen by the Christian Studies coordinator.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The examination will include questions arising from the readings. You have the choice of sitting for a three-hour exam or writing a one-week take-home exam. The take-home exam will require 3,500–3,800 words, must be written on a computer, and must be in proper Chicago Manual of Style format. The three-hour exam may be written on a computer. An oral exam, if required, will provide you an opportunity to amplify your responses and to explore issues more broadly.

GRADING

The final grade will be determined by your performance in the written, and if required, oral exam. The oral exam will not detract from the grade achieved in the written part, but may enhance it. The passing grade for the integrative exam is B-.

HOW TO REGISTER

- Meet with the Christian Studies Coordinator.
- Complete the Final Project Form and have it signed by your supervisor.
- Submit together at Reception: Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, regular Registration/Course Change form & payment of tuition and fees

DEADLINES AND EXAM DATES

For upcoming registration deadlines, and for exam dates, please see the Important Dates section of the website.

If the exam is all you are registering for in the term, register before the beginning of the term in order to avoid a late registration fee.

The Assistant to the Dean will notify you of the precise date and time of your exam shortly after the registration deadline stated above, but you will need to consult with your supervisor to arrange an oral exam if it is required.

You are required to take the integrative exam in the term in which you register for it.

ThM Major Paper (3 credits)

As an option to writing a thesis in the ThM program, you may write a Major Paper. See program details on the Master of Theology program page.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The ThM Major Paper is to be between 7,500 and 10,000 words in length.

GRADING

The faculty supervisor will select a second reader for the paper. Each of them will grade the paper and together, they may conduct an oral exam that will cover both the paper and the reading. The final grade will be determined by your performance in both the paper and the oral exam. The oral exam will not detract from the grade achieved in the paper, but may enhance it. The passing grade for a major paper is B-.

HOW TO REGISTER

- Meet with a member of faculty to serve as your supervisor.
- Complete the Final Project Form and have it signed by your supervisor.
- Submit together to Reception: Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, regular Registration/Course Change Form & payment of tuition and fees

UPCOMING DEADLINES

For upcoming registration deadlines, please see the Important Dates section of the website.

Note: If the major paper is all you are registering for in the term, register before the beginning of the term in order to avoid a late registration fee.

Your submission deadline is the last day of the term in which you register. If that is a Winter term and you are planning to graduate at the end of that term, confer with your supervisor to see whether he or she needs you to submit by an earlier date in order to allow sufficient time for grading.

Thesis (12 credits)

The thesis is a substantial piece of independent research on a specific, focused subject, involving both critical analysis and theological reflection.

For further details, see the Thesis Guidelines.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The thesis is normally between 30,000 and 45,000 words (including footnotes, but excluding the bibliography). The thesis requires considerable vigour and time; few students are able to complete a thesis in one term. It is ideal for students whose specific area of interest is highly defined. You must have a GPA of at least 3.5 before being approved to write a thesis.

GRADING

The final grade will be determined by the supervisor and the second reader, chosen by the Thesis Proposal Approval Committee. The passing grade for an MA or ThM thesis is B; however, the ThM thesis will be graded at an advanced level (i.e. it will be more difficult to get a B on the ThM thesis than an MA thesis).

HOW TO REGISTER

- Register for and attend the non-credit Thesis Orientation Seminar GENR 301 offered each Fall and Winter term (mandatory for thesis students).
- Required: Read the Thesis Guidelines.
- Approach a member of faculty to serve as your thesis supervisor. The College will endeavor to facilitate thesis supervision in the area of choice; however, admission to the program does not guarantee this.
- Have your supervisor sign your thesis proposal. You also need to print your grade report to show that you have a GPA of at least 3.5. You can access your grade report from within REGIS under the academic heading. Scan the proposal and grade report and submit them to the Thesis Proposal Approval Committee at TPAC@regent-college.edu (see deadlines below). The Committee may accept the proposal as it stands, reject the proposal, or make recommendations for revision.
- Complete the Final Project Form and have it signed by your supervisor.

- Submit the Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, a regular Registration/Course Change form, to Reception and pay the tuition and fees. Do this either by the end of the term that the proposal is approved, or at the beginning of the subsequent term.
- Registration for the thesis may be done in the Fall, Winter, or Summer Term, and may be split over two consecutive terms. If the thesis registration is split over two terms, you do not need to submit a registration form for the final 6 credits; you will automatically be registered and charged for the credits at the beginning of the subsequent term (including Summer), and you must pay the fees by the tuition payment due date of that term.

Integrative Project in the Arts and Theology (IPIAT) (6 or 12 credits)

The integrative project in the arts and theology (IPIAT) provides an opportunity for students who have experience in the arts to create and present an original work of art (e.g., a novel, paintings, the writing and performance of music or a play) and to reflect on it theologically. This option is offered solely to students completing a concentration in Christianity and the Arts, and may be taken for either 6 or 12 credit hours depending on the size of the project.

For further details, see the IPIAT Guidelines.

WHAT TO EXPECT

In addition to presenting an original work of art, you will complete a critical essay of about 25 pages engaging in theological and aesthetic reflection on the medium and tradition in which the integrative project in the arts and theology is done. The IPIAT is primarily intended for people who have already achieved significant competency in their chosen art field. You will need to present a portfolio of work for adjudication as part of the proposal process. The level of completed work is expected to be publishable, acceptable for juried exhibit, or ready for performance. If you are at a more exploratory stage with regard to your chosen medium or genre, you may be required to take some courses through UBC, or art schools or community colleges outside your Regent program. You must have a GPA of at least 3.3 before being approved to do an IPIAT.

GRADING

The passing grade for the integrative project in the arts and theology is B.

HOW TO REGISTER

- Register for and attend the non-credit IPIAT Orientation GENR 313 offered every Fall and Winter Term.
- Take INDS 560 The Christian Imagination, normally offered in the Winter Term.
- Take INDS 785 The Vocation of the Artist seminar, normally offered in the Fall Term. As a prerequisite for the seminar, you need to present a portfolio of your work and a cv showing other relevant training, performance, or publishing in that art form, to one of the seminar instructors to obtain permission to take the course.
- Approach a member of faculty to supervise your project. While the College will endeavour to facilitate supervision in the area and art form of your choosing, admission to the MA Theo Studies program does not guarantee this.
- Submit a proposal to the Arts Advisory Committee (see deadlines below). The Committee may accept the proposal as it stands, reject the proposal, or make recommendations for revision.
- Read the IPIAT Guidelines .
- Complete an Final Project Form and have it signed by your supervisor.
- Submit together to Reception: Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, regular Registration/Course Change Registration form & payment of tuition and fees. Do this either in the term that your proposal is approved, or by the beginning of the following term.

Integrative Project (6 credits)

The integrative project is an alternative final project available the MA in Theological Studies program at the discretion of faculty. While the comprehensive exam or the thesis is the usual way of completing the MA in Theological Studies program, in some cases students may benefit from doing an integrative project. This option provides you an opportunity to complete your studies at Regent College with a project that blends theological reflection with creative expression. It embodies the idea that Christian mission involves not only the witness of one's life and the proclamation of faith but also the generation of cultural goods that in their truth, beauty, and goodness function as signs and foretastes of the kingdom of God.

The integrative project allows those with competence and experience in a given field to create and communicate something recognizably part of that field (e.g., a business presentation, a policy paper, a curriculum, a preaching series, a healthcare protocol, a mission project, an organizational strategy, a public speech, a newspaper article, a non-fiction book, a training program, etc.) and to reflect on it theologically.

WHAT TO EXPECT

You must be able to communicate, in a manner appropriate to the subject matter, at a level that is excellent within the relevant field. This means the project must be at least potentially publishable, ready for presentation—to clients, investors, the public, or an audience of professional peers. In addition to communicating the project in a final form, you must submit any additional explanatory material plus a critical essay of 20 to 30 pages engaging in theological and cultural reflection on the genre and the cultural and theological context in which the project is done.

In order to do an integrative project, you must first be admitted to either the MA Theological Studies program, and you must have a Grade Point Average (GPA) of at least 3.3.

Read the Integrative Project Guidelines for more information.

GRADING

The passing grade for the integrative project is B.

HOW TO REGISTER

- Read the Integrative Project Guidelines.
- Approach a member of faculty to discuss the possibility of him or her supervising your project. As part of this discussion, you should share a recent copy of your transcript or grade report to show (i) what courses you have taken, (ii) that you have been admitted to the MA Theo Studies program, and (iii) that you have at least a 3.3 GPA.
- Prepare a written proposal to be approved by your supervisor.
- Submit to Reception a Final Project Form signed by your supervisor, a regular Registration/Course Change Form and payment for the course. You will register for all 6 credits of the integrative project in one term. The tuition will be payable either by the Payment Deadline for the term (i.e., the Friday before the beginning of classes), or at the time of registration, whichever is later.

UPCOMING DEADLINES

For upcoming registration and submission deadlines, please see the Important Dates section of the website. If you plan to graduate this year, note on the Important Dates page the deadline for submitting all materials.

COMPLETION TIMELINE

Beginning from September 1 following the registration for the integrative project, you have a maximum of three years to complete your project. If you do not complete within three years, you must appeal in writing to the Academic Standards Committee for permission to continue. Your appeal must include:

- a description of the progress you have made
 - an explanation of why you did not complete your project within the time limit
 - a schedule for how you plan to complete, together with a proposed date for completion
 - a letter of support from your supervisor
- Extensions are by no means guaranteed.

MALTS Capstone Project (6 credits)

The Capstone Project provides an opportunity for MALTS students to complete their program with a project that blends theological reflection, creative expression, and practical application. This requirement embodies the idea that leadership characterised by faith involves not only the witness of one's life and the proclamation of faith but also the generation of cultural goods of truth, beauty, and goodness. The project outcomes should be communicated in a way appropriate to the subject matter, at a level that is excellent within the relevant field. The project must be potentially implementable or ready for presentation to clients, investors, the public, or an audience of professional peers.

Read the Capstone Project Guidelines.

PREPARATION

Between January and May of the first year of your program (i.e., between your 2nd and 3rd residencies), you should begin to discuss with your supervisor/mentor possible options for your Capstone Project.

WHAT TO EXPECT

As part of your project, you will complete a critical essay of 5,000 words engaging in theological reflection on the project, bringing what you've learned in the MALTS program to bear on the project as a whole. The shape and form of your particular project will develop out of discussion with your Workplace Immersion supervisor/mentor who will then be your supervisor for the project, aided by the Director of the MALTS program. It is expected that implementation of your project in your workplace would be possible, even if such implementation is not pursued during your time in the MALTS program.

GRADING

The passing grade for the Capstone Project is B.

HOW TO REGISTER

- In conversation with your supervisor, determine the nature and scope of your project. Prepare a draft proposal and ask your supervisor to comment on it.
- Submit the final version of your proposal to the MALTS Committee (send by email to the MALTS Administrator). The Committee may approve the proposal as it is or send it back to you for revision.

TUITION FEES

For Fall and Winter courses, tuition is due in full on the Friday prior to the beginning of classes. For Spring and Summer session courses, the payment deadline is the first day of class. THESIS & INTEGRATIVE PROJECT IN THE ARTS AND THEOLOGY FEES

Thesis and IPIAT students must register for their thesis/IPIAT either by the thesis/IPIAT registration deadline of the same term in which their proposal is approved, or by the Friday before classes begin in the subsequent term; students who wish to register for their thesis/IPIAT prior to having their proposal approved should consult with the Registrar. Registration and payment for 12-credit-hour theses/IPIAT may be done all at once or divided equally over two consecutive terms. Students who choose to split credits over two consecutive terms do not need to submit a registration form for the final 6 credits; they will automatically be registered and charged for these credits at the beginning of the subsequent term (including Summer), and must pay the fees by the tuition payment due date of that term in order to avoid late payment charges. Students are also subject to pay for the cost of handling and binding/archiving and, in the case of theses, proofreading and microfilming. Payment for these costs is due at the time of registration.

THESIS & INTEGRATIVE PROJECT IN THE ARTS AND THEOLOGY CONTINUATION FEES

Beginning from September following the initial registration of the thesis/IPIAT, students have three years to complete their thesis/IPIAT. Students who have not completed their thesis/IPIAT by the first September after their registration will be automatically charged a yearly continuation fee (in addition to the regular registration fee) at the beginning of each Fall term until the end of their three-year time limit. Students who have not completed their thesis/IPIAT within the three-year time limit must appeal in writing to the Academic Standards Committee for permission to continue. Those granted an extension will need to pay an extended continuation fee (in addition to the regular registration fee).

STUDENT FEES

All students registered for 3 or more credit hours in the Fall or Winter terms, whether in a program or not, are required to pay the following Student Fees.

REGENT COLLEGE STUDENT ASSOCIATION FEE

This fee provides membership in the Regent College Student Association and which supports the work of the Student Council including representation of students in the life of the College, publication of the College newsletter (the Et Cetera) and the College Directory, provision of computers in the library for student use, and organization of many social activities throughout the year.

FALL RETREAT FEE

This fee subsidizes the annual Fall Retreat.

AMS FEE

The AMS Fee provides students membership in the Alma Mater Society (AMS) of the University of British Columbia and gives them access to UBC libraries, sports facilities, student discounts, as well as links to UBC clubs and political processes.

U-PASS FEE

The U-Pass Fee provides students membership in the U-Pass BC program, giving them transit privileges (TransLink buses, the SkyTrain, and the SeaBus) within the Greater Vancouver Regional District (GVRD). This fee is mandatory for all students who pay the Student Association Fee regardless of where they live.

HEALTH & DENTAL PLAN FEE

This fee makes students members of the AMS Health and Dental Plan, which provides a comprehensive package of extended health, dental, vision, and travel benefits to supplement students' basic medical insurance (e.g., BC Medical Services Plan). Students may purchase additional coverage for their spouse and children by contacting the AMS Health and Dental Plan Office. Students who can show that they are already members of an extended health and dental care plan may opt out of this program through the AMS Health and Dental Plan Office.

Students taking only Distance Education courses are not subject to these fees; however, students who are taking a Distance Education course in the same term that they are taking an on-campus course will be subject to these fees provided their total credit/audit hours are 3 or more. Furthermore, students who are taking at least one on-campus course and who by adding credits during the term (e.g., by adding a Distance Education course, comprehensive exam or thesis) raise their total credit hours to 3 or more will be charged these fees regardless of when in the term they add the additional credits. Students who register for 3 or more audit hours may opt to pay these fees if they wish to take advantage of the services they provide; however, the option is either to pay all of the fees or none of them. Students who register for less than 3 credit/audit hours are not eligible to pay these fees.

It is wise to budget more money for the first month to cover any potential unexpected costs. For example, some families end up paying for temporary accommodation, renting a car to look for permanent housing, buying furniture, etc.

The Dean of Students Office receives some donations of good quality furniture and other household items to help new students set up a home. To see what is available, look for the "Gifts for New Students" area at Regent the week before Orientation and during the Orientation week.
